Accomplished Cook

Blonde, blue-eyed Suzanne Somers is the antithesis of culinary incompetent Chrissy Snow, the character she portrays in the series, "Three's Company."

A gourmet French cook, Suzanne is scheduled to depart this week for Paris, where she plans to attend La Varenne, a cooking school at which English is spoken.

"I studied at Le Cordon Bleu last year, but I missed out somewhat because of my inexpert understanding of the French language," she said. "That is why I am enrolling at La Varenne this time."

IS THAT YOU MISS BEADLE???: Charlotte Stewart, who stars as the very prim and proper spinster school teacher on NBC-TV's "Little House on the Prairie" (Mondays, 8-9 p.m.) is really a curvy young actress who knows very little about teaching or about Minnesota. Actually she's a third generation Californian who was born and raised in the same house as her mother and grandmother.

'Miss Beadle'

'Little House' Actress Warm, Friendly, Outgoing

Miss Beadle, the prim and proper school teacher on NBC-TV's "Little House On the Prairie," is played by Charlotte Stewart, a warm, friendly, outgoing and very talented actress.

The school 'marm' who rides herd on her students in the one-room school house wears drab, colorless clothes and has her hair in a tight bun. Off-camera, Charlotte is anything but drab and colorless: she's downright good looking! So good looking that fans seldom recognize her.

Should you be a "doubter," you'll have the good fortune to see for yourself while Charlotte is in Wilmington, N.C. to participate in the 30th annual Azalea Festival.

This is her first trip to Wilmington, and she has looked forward to it for a long time. On a more personal note, she will also be visiting with a childhood friend whom she's not seen for 20 years — Mrs. Henry Jordan of Wilmington.

Charlotte Stewart says that

Holden Stars In 'Breezy'

As a director, superstar Clint Eastwood has turned out a neat psychological thriller, "Play Misty for Me," and an equally psychological and off-beat Western — "High Plains Drifter." He then cast violence aside and came up with his third film, "Breezy," airing April 11, on "NBC Monday Night at the Movies," 9 to 11 p.m., on Channel 7.

William Holden, also known for action-filled films, and Kay Lenz share billing in "Breezy" as two unlikely lovers — a young hippie who tries to find good in everyone and a restless, cynical businessman who has had difficulty recovering from a bitter divorce.

Miss Lenz made her movie-debut opposite the 57-year-old Holden in the drama and displays an ingratiating personality as a girl who practically irritates an older man into loving her.
