

Sarajevo War Spark Remembered

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (AP) — Several small boys swam in the river. A few persons waited for a street car. A traffic policeman sat on a roadside wall, resting.

It was 10:10 a.m.—exactly the hour 50 years ago, on another summer Sunday in 1914, when a young Bosnian revolutionist fired two shots heard around the world. It was exactly the spot where Archduke Franz Ferdinand, heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, was shot dead, with his wife.

There was no ceremony Sunday at the Miljacka River bridge to mark the event that touched off World War I, led to the end of the Austro-Hungarian empire, cost the lives of 8.5 million men, opened the way for the spread of communism, and left festering wounds that brought on World War II.

Two Observances

There were two observances here of the archduke's assassination—one by a group of historians who formed a "Committee for Marking the Anniversary of the Sarajevo Assassination," the other by the Serbian Orthodox Church.

Both were in low key, attracting only a few hundred persons, and neither was at the bridge where the assassin, Gravello Princip, fired the shots. No one spoke of celebrations, for no one wanted to "celebrate" an assassination. The emphasis was on memorials and commemorations.

The historians' committee, with the apparent but silent blessing of the Communist party, placed red lilac wreaths at the tombs of Princip and his fellow plotters.

Plaques Unveiled

The committee then unveiled memorial plaques at the house where one of the plotters was born, at a spot where a 1910 assassination attempt had been made against the military governor of Bosnia, and at the point where plotters threw a bomb at Archduke Franz Ferdinand but missed. Princip shot him a few minutes later.

At the Serbian Orthodox cathedral a requiem Mass was sung for Princip and his group.

MERIT AWARD WINNERS—The Rev. George R. Garner, III, presents honors to seven Pasadenaans named by the Pasadena Association for the Study of Negro Life and History. The awards, in recognition of outstanding service and contributions, were made in special ceremonies of the Westminster Presbyterian Church. From left to right are Dr. Max M. Morrison, minister of the host church; Dr. Garner; Mayor Floyd O. Gwinn; Woodlie H. Burnett; Arnold Huss, managing editor of The Independent and Star-News; Harry Page; and Lee M. Merriman, editor of The Independent and Star-News. Other award winners not present for the picture were: the Rev. Dr. Jesse W. Coleman, founder-pastor of the Community Baptist Church; Mrs. Rhoda C. Harris, life member of the Garner Negro Music Center; and Joseph Peter White, II, president of the sponsoring group.

Marriage Formula Told

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Fight like heck but love each other" — that is Ernest Borgnine's formula for success for his marriage to Ethel Merman.

"Stucks, who's going to fight?" his bride replied.

The two show-business personalities made these comments after they were married Saturday in a private civil ceremony in the actor's garden, witnessed only by weeping relatives.

"Everybody cried but us," said the Oscar-winning star of "Marty."

"I was touched but I didn't cry," added Miss Merman, star of "Panama Hattie," "Annie Get Your Gun," "Call Me Madam," and other Broadway hits.

Present at the double-ring marriage, performed by a municipal judge, were Borgnine's father, sister and 12-year-old daughter and Miss Merman's parents and children by a previous marriage.

After the wedding, they repaired to Chasen's, where a few hundred well-wishers toasted the famous pair with champagne.

Among them: Lucille Ball,

Milzi Gaynor, George Jessel, Rory Calhoun, Carl Reiner.

It is the fourth marriage for Miss Merman, 55. Borgnine, 47, has been married twice before.

The bride and groom mingled with the guests throughout the four-hour reception. Despite cures from the combo with such songs as "There's No Business Like Show Business" and "I Got a Kick Out of You," Miss Merman declined to sing any of her trademarks, but she and big Ernie did engage in a spirited "Twist" toward the end of the evening.

Their honeymoon will be delayed a week because she is working in a movie. They plan to tour the Orient, returning in late July when Borgnine resumes his television series, "McHale's Navy."

Flying Tigers Head for Taiwan Reunion

BURBANK (UPI)—Some 150 members of the famed Flying Tigers of pre-World War II days left Sunday for a reunion at Taiwan.

The fliers and crewmen were to be week-long guests of Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, the 77-year-old president of the Republic of China, which the Tigers fought against the Japanese prior to the United States' entering the war.

Tickets Now on Sale for July 4 Show

Tickets are now on public sale for the 38th annual July 4th Circus and Fireworks Show to be staged in the Pasadena Rose Bowl.

All neighborhood Thrifty Drug Stores will sell tickets for the traditional family show which is being prepared by the Pasadena firemen.

Charlotte Stewart, "Miss Liberty Belle," will greet show visitors promptly at 8:15 p.m. and will introduce Jerry West, grand marshal, who is an all-pro basketball star of the Los Angeles Lakers, and Al Lohman and Roger Barkley, KLAC disc jockeys, masters of ceremonies.

The four-ring Polack Bros. Circus will open the dual show with a fast moving production featuring the finest performers in the circus world.

Guy Cossing, Belgium's wild animal trainer, Van Donwen's Seals, the Besalou Elephants, plus aerialists, bareback riders, acrobats, jugglers, wire-walkers, clowns and cyclists will be seen in the only circus to play the San Gabriel Valley this year.

"Land of Liberty" is the theme of the fireworks display and will be highlighted by giant set pieces to honor our nation on its 188th birthday. The famous Niagara Falls fire fall which extends clear across the stadium and turns night into day will climax the fireworks display.

JULY 4TH FIREWORKS SHOW — Bill Henry, Thrifty's director of store operations, is joined by "Miss Liberty Belle," Charlotte Stewart, in reminding Valley residents that tickets for the 38th annual July 4th circus and fireworks show in Rose Bowl are now on sale.

New Typhoon Heads for Philippines

MANILA (AP) — Tropical storm Winnie has intensified into a typhoon in the Pacific and is heading slowly for the Northern Philippines, the Manila Weather Bureau said Sunday.

The typhoon has 75-mile winds near its center.

Dr. Oatway Named Top Altadena Citizen

Dr. William H. Oatway, Jr., medical director and superintendent of La Vina Sanatorium and Hospital since 1950, has been named Citizen of the Year by the Exchange Club of Altadena, Richard B. Wood, president, announced.

In making the announcement, Wood stated, "It is a distinct privilege to have a part in honoring a man who has achieved international as well as national acclaim for his work in the field of chest diseases. He has also been the man responsible for building the reputation and physical plant of the institution that he now heads."

The honoree attended Carroll College and received his B.S. degree at the University of Wisconsin and his M.D. degree at the University of Pennsylvania in 1928.

Specializing in chest diseases, he did post-graduate work at Trudeau Foundation, Saranac Lake; Wisconsin General Hospital; Harvard Unit, Boston City Hospital and the Barlow Sanatorium, Los Angeles. He has done staff research work at Saranac Lake, Harvard, University of Wisconsin and Barlow.

He was an associate professor of medicine at the University of Wisconsin for seven years and is now in his eighth year as an associate clinical professor of medicine at USC.

In addition to La Vina, he has professional staff relationships with Huntington Memorial Hospital, Los Angeles County General Hospital and Barlow Hospital.

Dr. Oatway has written over 70 articles and 800 columns for national medical journals. He served as editor of the National TB Association magazine, "Diagnostic Standards of TB" and the American Hospital Association publication, "Management of TB in General Hospitals." For ten years, he was associated editor of "Arizona Medicine."

He is a member of the Pasadena, California and American Medical Associations and has served as president of California Thoracic Society and the California Sanatorium Association. He belongs to the American Thoracic Society.

Two state chest disease societies, Wisconsin and Arizona, were founded by him. He is certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine and the American Board of Pulmonary Diseases.

He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity and the following professional fraternities — Sigma Xi, Sigma Sigma and Nu Sigma Nu.

The honoree resides with his wife, Louise McCulloch Oatway, in a residence on the La Vina grounds. Their son, William H. Oatway III, a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, is now an ensign in the naval air service.
